

COVID-19 TESTING ANNOUNCEMENT

As a veteran owned business, we at RealTime Laboratories understand service to country. So, we are proud to announce we have retooled a portion of our laboratory and designated personnel to conduct patient testing for COVID-19, the Corona Virus, effective April 1st. There is a drastic shortage of labs able to perform the test in the US. We believe it is important to help during this national healthcare crisis.

Over the past week, we've worked under the guidance of the Center for Disease Control on validation requirements to run their test on equipment in our lab and also to ensure infectious disease safeguards and protocols are in place to protect our employees.

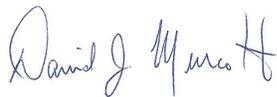

We will primarily offer service to our local hospitals in the Dallas area via courier pickup and next day results. But, as long as capacity allows, we will accept samples from other physicians as well. Initially, we will require a healthcare practitioner's written order. Direct to Consumer testing may become available as test supplies become easier to acquire. But, for now, we need to make sure the tests are run on those who need them most.

RealTime is an approved Medicare and Tricare provider. As with our Mycotoxin testing, we can provide service free of charge to many of their patients. We are also working with major insurance carriers on in-network credentialing, with the goal of minimizing out of pocket expenses for every patient. Although the federal government has expressed a desire to make the test free for everyone, they have yet to put that practice into place.

Test kits are very limited as the components are in high demand. However, we managed to secure an initial supply and have a guarantee with our manufacturer to keep us at capacity. We will have kits available to ship in advance of our April 1st launch. If you have patients in need of testing, please contact the lab at 972-492-0419, or request details by emailing us at clientservices@realtimelab.com.

We will continue to provide all our existing services in both clinical and environmental mycotoxin testing and believe there will be no impact to turn-around times on those tests. We know some doctors are seeing patients via telemedicine. To support you, we can have mycotoxin test collection kits shipped directly to your patients. Please email your request to kits@realtimelab.com. We remain, as always, Champions of the Undiagnosed.

Kind regards,
